Seat of Life

Last week, I had a lovely party on one of those lush, green, misty summer afternoons. The house was filled with good friends in celebration of my first year of sobriety, and my dad’s visit. I was maneuvering food plates around the kitchen and talking to a girlfriend, when someone said to me, “That’s such a beautiful chair.” I looked over to the corner of the living room, and there it was, unoccupied. My little antique winged back burgundy brocade chair and its matching footstool. All I saw in that moment, was the chair and the green mountains behind it.

One year ago, that chair was covered in tears, vomit, blood, and likely some urine. Probably the only bodily fluid that didn’t leak onto that chair were bowel-moving materials, and maybe some obscure bile-duct secretions — but who knows, given my body’s reaction the large bottles of mouthwash (alcohol content: 26.5%) I was drinking. If I’d had any fingernails, there would have been large gashes in the arm-rests. A year ago, that chair held me in its arms as I rocked back and forth with shakes, heaves, and despair, as I stared psychotically out at the colorless winter, plotting suicide. No job, no driver’s license, and unanswered phone calls from ignored friends. Except for the dogs, I was alone within the excruciating cycle of drinking my half assed alcohol, blacking out, and the inevitable convulsive withdrawals, panic, and terror. The Horsemen surrounded me, and that little chair held me through all of it.

But on this day, the chair stood clean and beautiful against the window and wore a gorgeous lace doily. The whole house was warm and the smells of good food intermingled with music and my friends’ laughter. I could see a few books peeking out underneath my chair, from my rushed effort to tidy: the Big Book a mediation book, Living Sober, a book on women pilots of Alaska, and information on a Master’s program in environmental science.

Now, when I sit in my chair, I look out the window with hope. When fear grips me, I sit in my chair and face it head on. I cry in it, pray in it, read in it, and reminisce in it. How one little chair can be the seat of such joy, pain, and everything in between transcends human understanding. But I do know that God is here today, as He was there then, holding me in the palm of His hand, in the arms of my chair.

Recap of August Intergroup Meeting

Here are the action items from our last Intergroup meeting:

1. We are still in need of an Office Administrator. This is a paid position and requires 5 years of sobriety. Further information is available at trivalleyaa.org.
2. We are still in need of an H&I representative. Please announce this at your meetings and let people know if they want to volunteer they should come to our next Intergroup meeting.
3. The hotline could always use more volunteers as well.
4. We will be having our annual picnic on Sunday, August 16th at Black Avenue Park. The event will be held from 11 to 3. Tickets will be $5 again and the drinks are free. Clean up is the last open commitment.
5. AA wants your stories – Send essays to literature@aa.org. See Don Z.'s General Service recap below.
6. Note to group treasures – Please remember to include your group registration number on all disbursements. Also, make checks out to CNCA District 70 FBO.
7. There are still some available slots for PI/CPC speakers, contact Bob W. if you are interested: Dates are: a. August 12 b. August 22 c. August 31
8. There is going to be a working workshop on the Fourth step on October 17th 11 to 4 and tentatively scheduled at St. Philips in Dublin.
9. NCCAA Conference in Fresno October 30 – November 1 at Double Tree Hilton, you can go online and register $15 or 20 at the door. Staying at the hotel helps with the cost of the conference.

FULL REPORT OF VALLEY SERVICE CENTER INTER-GROUP'S MINUTES CAN BE FOUND AT WWW.VALLEYSERVICECENTER.ORG

Sponsor: Hey, there! Good to see you, what's going on in your life?

Sponsee: I am doing GREAT! I've been to a meeting every day this week. My wife isn't irritating me as much, my boss gave me a compliment yesterday, my kid asked me to help coach his soccer team! I'm doing great!

Sponsor: That's terrific, glad to hear it! So what did you want to talk about?

Sponsee: Well, I wanted to, y'know, I think I'm going to too many meetings.

A SECOND STORY THIS MONTH!

STORM SHELTER

In the spring of 2011, I was invited to a three-day celebration of a charitable organization in Montgomery, Alabama, and I decided to attend. I'd be traveling by train, and the closest station was in Tuscaloosa. So I made sure that I had the intergroup phone numbers for both Tuscaloosa and Montgomery. My sponsor taught me to always make a meeting wherever and whenever I traveled.

As we crossed into Alabama, our train started going slower and slower. Suddenly the wind got really strong and trees began to fall all around the tracks. By the time we finally reached Tuscaloosa, the wind was howling furiously. We got off the train. At first the station seemed safe, but 20 minutes later, eight of us were laying face down on the ground. When we were able to get up, we saw two tornado funnels just a few blocks away. Luckily, none of us were hurt. It turns out we were in one of the largest tornado outbreaks in history.

After the storm passed, I called the number I had for Tuscaloosa Intergroup. A young man, about five years sober, was on an old cellphone taking calls. Of course there were no meetings that day, but I had several conversations with him. He was very comforting. In this extreme situation, he was certainly doing his service job above and beyond the normal call of duty.

One of the women at the train station gave me a place to sleep that night. The next morning, the sun was shining and I found a bus that would take me to Montgomery. The hotel there laundered my clothes. On Friday morning, I made a local meeting before checking in at my charitable event, and I got some A.A. phone numbers.

On Saturday night, I was in line for dinner when someone tapped me on the back. It was a woman from the Friday morning meeting. She said, "you're on the wrong line. This is the drink line. The food line is over there. But come on, I'm taking you to a meeting." And so she did. I had a wonderful time in Alabama, both in and out of A.A., and in and out of the Tuscaloosa tornado.

When I got back, I spoke with that young Intergroup phone guy several times over the next few months. And get this: I recently spent a weekend in Baltimore, where I met two people who happened to be from Tuscaloosa. They knew this young man and his sponsor. We are forever connected in this amazing Fellowship.

I didn't get to Alcoholics Anonymous because the hand of God came down and tapped me on the shoulder . . . for me it took a smack up the side of the head, and a face plant on the pavement. I guess it's probably redundant to say that I was drunk at the time.

Road Trip!

A friend of mine says that until he was about a year sober he thought his name was "Shut up and get in the car!" The guys in the area where he got sober would pick him up and they'd all head off to a meeting. They would have the meeting on the way to the meeting, the meeting, and the meeting on the way home from the meeting. He didn't always know where they were headed, but he knew there would be an A.A. meeting and usually a cup of coffee or a piece of pie on the way home.

Why not grab an A.A. newcomer, a friend, or a sponsee (or all three) and head out to a different meeting? Looking for a meeting to try? How about one of these?
